PEACE IN BELFAST

BELFAST, Jan. 30.—Curfew shall not ring tonight. This may sound melodramatic, but it means for the first time in sixteen months the people of Belfast, who at this modern day are subject to religious prejudices of the bitterest sort, may stay out after 10:30 p. m. All this is because of the satisfactory conditions resulting from the agreement reached by Michael Collins and Sir James Craig less than two weeks ago.

The south's boycott against the north has been removed and the north has promised to reemploy Catholic labor, and today John Miller Andrews, minister of labor of Ulster, went to Dublin to confer with Joseph McGrath, minister of labor in the Irish provisional government, in the threatened railway strike.

Craig Promises Fair Deal.
Economic difficulties, however, prevent the immediate execution in detail of a part of Ulster's agreement, Sir James said today.

"I returned to Belfast only Thursday, I devoted Friday to preparations for a speech and on Saturday I met the shipyard owners who adopted in principle the agreement with Mr. Collins, leaving the details to the future, but I have assurance that the details will be executed without prejudice," he said. "This progress is extraordinarily rapid in view of what has occurred during the last few centuries and we ask that none become impatient if the way we get on is regarded as slow from the modern point of view."

The shipbuilding industry in Belfast is slow, the same as in most other parts of the world, and there are thousands of Protestants idle here as well as Catholics. I can assure all that there will be fair play. The best men will be put back to work without consideration as to religious belief. The keen interest of the Ulsterites regarding the organization of the free state almost exceeds that of the free states themselves. Ulster's position, according to Sir James, is one of watchful waiting. If the free state makes good, Ulster will go in eventually.

'BIG TIM' MURPHY NAMED AGAIN BY U. S. GRAND JURY

Charged with Possessing Mail Theft Loot.

"Big Tim" Murphy, Chicago's labor "boss," recently convicted of conspiracy to rob the mails in connection with the Dearborn station holdup last April, was charged in another indictment returned by the federal grand jury yesterday with having in his possession part of the loot.

Murphy was tried last November in the federal courts. The charges were conspiracy to conceal and harbor $110,000, which was identified as part of the Dearborn station loot. Judge Landis sentenced him to serve six years in prison. The new charge carries with it a penalty of five years in jail.

Names Three Others.
Named in the indictment with Murphy are John Barry, Harold Watkins, and one "James." Barry was arrested several weeks ago by Postal Inspector William Fahy and Sgt. Thomas Costello. Watkins and "James" have never been apprehended.

Up to a short time ago the postal authorities had been unable to determine who the man named as "James" in all the indictments really was. The name was given to them in a confession, said to have been made to them by Edward Glavin, one of the convicted defendants.

Get Clue to "James."
Inspector Fahy and Sgt. Costello learned from Glavin, they said, that "James" was an Italian who formerly lived in 23d street. Glavin and the other man were together a part of the time before the robbery, Fahy said. Once while walking in 23d street, Glavin said, "James" pointed out a house and said, "My father was killed in front of that place."

Fahy and Costello checked on the police records and found that a man named James Lombardo had been killed at the address. He is said to have had, at that time, a son named James. A hunt for James Lombardo is being made in an effort to determine if he is the man known as "James."

GIRL MAY ENJOY HER FAG WHILE AT WORK—IN DUBLIN

(Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.)
(Copyright: 1922.)

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Ought girls be allowed to smoke during office hours? This question was raised today in a republican court in Dublin by Miss Smith, a young bookkeeper, who claimed a week's wages in lieu of notice from her employers, by whom she had been dismissed for smoking a cigarette during working hours. She said all the men workers smoked.

Her claim to a week's wages was granted by the court.

BOBBED HAIR OF MRS. WINKLER IS DIVORCE FACTOR

His wife's humiliating bobbed hair, out for the express purpose of making her appear younger than her years and the husband the laughing stock of his friends, was instrumental yesterday in Carl W. Winkler of Evanston obtaining a divorce from Mrs. Eleanor C. Winkler before Judge Charles A. McDonald.

Other unpleasantnesses named in Winkler's bill were an alleged love affair Mrs. Winkler had with an overseas captain, and her dexterity in applying sticks of kindling wood to her husband's head. The kindling wood episode was related in the courtroom.

BABY IS LEFT IN HOSPITAL BEHIND PILE OF BOXES

An umbrella may be forgotten or a pair of glasses mislaid, but, as a rule, one is not apt to be absent minded about a baby. Nurse Mary Lyle was therefore startled yesterday to find a 10-day old baby boy carelessly deposited behind a pile of boxes in the county hospital nursery.

Investigation disclosed the fact that the child had been born to Mrs. Marie Hurley, 5089 Kenmore avenue, in the Lake View hospital, where she is still under the care of Dr. Sylvester C. Kehl, 323 East 81st street. The baby was returned to its mother by Dr. Kehl, who said that Mrs. Hurley was to be discharged soon, and, unable to care for the baby, had sent it to the county hospital in care of her sister. The sister could not be found to be asked how she happened to mislay the baby, who is none the worse for its adventure.

Jury Indicts 21 More Building Corporations

New York, Jan. 30.—Twenty-one corporations and twenty-four individuals engaged in the heating and ventilating branch of the building industry, were indicted by a Supreme court jury today for violation of the Donnelly anti-trust law. Five other persons were indicted for conspiracy.

The anti-trust law offense specifically charged was entering into an agreement on June 1, 1920, to fix prices and prevent competition in restraint of trade.

While her Daddy was away in the War

LITTLE MAY JANETTE was a "war baby" born while her father was in the service. Mrs. Martin, finding it necessary to return to her work, started her baby on Borden's Eagle Brand Milk. As May Janette's five little cousins were brought up on Eagle Brand, naturally Mrs. Martin had great confidence in it. And with good reason. For May Janette—now three-and-a-half years old—"is strong, sturdy and full of life and energy" her mother says.

Don't experiment with your baby's food. Eagle Brand has been the standard infant food for many years. Countless mothers, like Mrs. Martin, have found that it made their babies strong and well. Thousands of physicians have recommended it for babies who were underweight and undernourished. For Eagle Brand is very easily digested.

Actually Borden's Eagle Brand Milk contains nothing but pure milk and pure sugar. It is the natural food if mother's milk is not available. It is always pure and uniform. You can get it anywhere.

STUTZ
THE CAR THAT MADE GOOD IN A DAY

ANNOUNCING STUTZ PRICES

STUTZ	Bearcat	$2950
STUTZ	Roadster	$2950
STUTZ	Four Passenger	$2990
STUTZ	Six Passenger	$2990
STUTZ	Coupe	$3990

HERE is the news about Stutz we've promised! New prices that establish another Stutz record—a record for unequalled value among high class cars.

Years ago, from the time the first Stutz "made good in a day" on the race track, this wonder car has established its supremacy over the finest cars of the world.

Years of development have resulted in a great, solid financial and industrial organization whose motto has ever been—"Build the Best."

The Stutz of today is the culmination of this development, the best car that ever bore the Stutz name.

In addition to its many superior features, the famous 16 valve engine, its ease and safety of control at all speeds, the comfort of deeper upholstery and longer springs, its better design and greater care in making—

Stutz buyers now have the option of right or left hand drive.

That such a car should be sold below $3,000 means a new standard in automobile values—

—a standard that means that you can afford the best.

Measured by miles of satisfactory service per dollar invested, no other high class car can equal the value of Stutz.

No longer need you say—"I've always wanted a Stutz." DRIVE ONE!

TUESDAY, JAN. 31, 1922
Renewed Interest in Stutz Sales Plan
There was a new impetus given the reception of the new sales plan of the Stutz yesterday with the arrival of numerous dealers who are attending the Chicago show.
They had heard of this new plan—the fairest and best you have ever seen, and wanted to get first hand information concerning it.
The plan was prepared by a former automobile dealer. It anticipates the very things you as a dealer have always desired. This Stutz plan is the best ever.
Learn About Plan at the Congress
You should know all about the Stutz sales plan. It makes no difference what car you handle, or where your territory is.
The plan is so new, different and logical and so essential that you should know about it, anyway.
Stutz headquarters are at the Congress Hotel, and President W. N. Thompson and Sales Manager Fred Wilson are in charge.
You certainly are welcome.

LANDIS TO FIX WAGE SCALE FOR 40 TRADES TODAY

Status of Building Hangs on His Decision.

Chicago's interest will center in the Federal building today. From his chambers there Judge K. M. Landis, arbitrator of the building trades controversy, will announce a wage-scale decision upon which may depend the immediate welfare of thousands of the army of workers involved and the legion of home-seekers.

The decision, which will prescribe the wages to be paid more than forty trades for the year beginning June 1, 1922, may bring immediate peace in the building controversy that has cost Chicago millions in the past year, or it may foster continued strife.

Old Wage Scale Annulled.
Whatever the outcome, the burden under which Judge Landis has gratuitously labored for several months will, in accordance with terms of the arbitration agreement, be lifted from his shoulders at midnight.

The pronouncement due today also was provided for by the agreement under which the arbitrator has been acting. The wage scales stipulated by Judge Landis in his decision of Sept. 7 last, were, it was expressly understood, to prevail only until Feb. 1—tomorrow.

While there has been no intimation as to what the decision will be, many profess to believe it will involve some revision of the scales prescribed last fall. These predictions are based on Judge Landis' repeated assurance that he would freely make changes if it were shown he had made mistakes in his decision of Sept. 7.

Whether the arbitrator has been "shown" is a matter of conjecture, but the protests against many of the wage rulings have been vociferous.

Curran Forces Settlement.

William Curran, newly elected president of the Chicago Building Trades council, last night reiterated a prediction that the controversy will end within a week or two.

"I am not prepared to say what the solution will be," he said, "but it will be satisfactorily worked out. Give me time—I shouldn't be expected to have straightened out everything in the ten days I have been in office."

The union chief expressed resentment against what he termed an effort in some quarters to picture him as a radical leader.

"If I were radical," he contended, "the elements supporting me would not be doing so."

The anti-Landis award forces lost an ally yesterday when the journey-men steamfitters returned to work. The Chicago Master Steamfitters' association had issued a forty-eight hour ultimatum threatening open shop if the Landis award was not lived up to.

No Hope for Flat Scale.

Judge Landis yesterday received delegations representing the structural ironworkers, the sheet metal workers, and the steamfitters. All asked that their scales be increased in the decision to be announced today.

Judge Landis, apropos a report that a flat wage scale would satisfy all trades, said this was not to be hoped for.

"It would be manifestly unfair," he said. As last fall, the new decision will apply to all trades, although the carpenters, painters, and plasterers have never agreed to abide by the Landis award.

YOU CANNOT GET YOUR RUM FROM
U. S. WAREHOUSE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—Intoxicating liquors, stored in government bonded warehouses, cannot be withdrawn by the owners for their own personal use, the Supreme court today held in a decision delivered by Justice McKenna, and dissented to by Justice Reynolds. Such liquor can only be transported from the bonded warehouses, Justice McKenna stated, "to a wholesale druggist for sale to him for purposes not prohibited."

The court in a previous decision held that owners could withdraw from private warehouses liquor for their own consumption or for the use of their family or their bona fide guests. Today's ruling marks a wide distinction between private and bonded warehouses.

Busse Summer Home

The forty acre tract fronting on the east side of Fox Lake off the Busse farm, containing Sunset cottage, has been sold by Mrs. Caroline Busse, mother of the late Mayor Busse of Chicago, to Victor Wilmont, a Chicago manufacturer. This was Mr. Busse's former summer home. It is valued at $40,000.

The young woman, who is herewith first viewed by publicity's camera, had just been exonerated of the charge of kidnapping the boy in Chicago and taking him to his father, Cutler Robbins, in California. The charge was made and subsequent arrest in Ogden was caused by Mrs. Mary Robbins, divorced wife and the mother of the boy. The father was given custody of the boy at the time of the divorce.

THINK THEATER COLLAPSE TOLL MAY BE BUT 96

Ten Names Stricken
from Fate List.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—The possibility that the number of dead in the Knickerbocker theater tragedy might be less than 100 was seen to-night after the police had completed a recheck of all names in the earlier casualty lists and had made a thorough inquiry at undertaking establishments and hospitals.

As a result of their investigation it was said that the death list so far definitely ascertained stood at ninety-five. Ten names in the lists heretofore given of the dead were stricken out.

The condition of E. H. Shaughnessy, second assistant postmaster general, was said tonight to be "improved" and it was added that he was now expected to recover.

Federal Inquiries Started.
Blame for the Knickerbocker disaster will be fixed by congress and a federal grand jury.

Four investigations to determine the cause of the crash were started today by congress, the district commissioners, the federal grand jury for the District of Columbia, and the district corner, D. J. Ramsey Nevitt.

It is the opinion of Col. Charles Keller, engineer commissioner, who spent the greater part of Saturday night and yesterday at the scene of the disaster, that the cave-in was caused by a defect in material.

An investigation by the entire committee on District of Columbia of the United States senate, was proposed to the senate this afternoon by Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, a member of the district committee.

START CHICAGO INQUIRY.

Warned by the theater catastrophe in Washington, Chairman William R. O'Toole of the city council building committee began a rigorous inspection and investigation of every theater, movie, and legitimate dance hall and public meeting place in Chicago yesterday.

Accompanied by experts from the building department, the aldermanic subcommittee, composed of Ald. O'Toole, John Mulcahy, and T. A. Hogan, started their inquiry on the roof of the new Apollo theater. They found no violations at the Apollo and pronounced it "safe and lawabiding."

"But there are theaters in Chicago, especially some of those which are from forty to fifty years old, which are violating the building code nightly," Ald. O'Toole said. "We intend to make them toe the mark."

JANITORS' CASE CLOSED WITHOUT MAKING DEFENSE

Prosecutor Sent Death
Threat Note.

The sudden closing of the flat janitors' case without any defense, the receipt of a death threat by Special Prosecutor Edwin J. Raber, and the acceptance of four jurors in the Simon O'Donnell case were the features yesterday of the two labor trials now being conducted in the Criminal court building.

In the janitors' case, where William F. Quessie, president and nine other officials of the Chicago Flat Janitors' union are on trial before Judge John A. Swanson, closing arguments to the jury were begun without any defense being offered on behalf of the labor leaders.

Evidence Admitted.
The state, after a lengthy argument, had obtained the admission of a document, said to be in the handwriting of Quessie, in which business agents of the union were given power to levy "fines" against janitors and property owners, the money received from such fines to be used to pay the expenses incurred by the business agents in levying them.

With the admission of the document Mr. Raber announced that the state had closed its case. Then Attorney Joseph Harrington and W. O'Brien, of counsel for the labor officials, stated that they had no defense to make. Closing arguments were then begun and it is possible that the case may go to the jury tonight.

Ordered to "Go Easy."

Shortly after the noon recess Prosecutor Raber exhibited a death threat which he had received through the mails. The letter, which was unsigned, warned him to "go easy" on the janitors, threatening that there would be a funeral in the state's attorney's office for every conviction "he obtained."

After six days of labor, four men were selected yesterday to sit on the jury which will try Simon O'Donnell, former president of the Chicago Building Trades council, and three other labor officials who are on trial before Judge John R. Caverly.

The four men are Henry A. Roent, 7505 Kenwood avenue, a clerk; Henry Abel, 1126 Milwaukee avenue, a printer; Joseph P. Franz, 2736 West 36th street, a clerk, and Jerome C. Keller, 1924 Fletcher street, a clerk.

Millionaire's Widow,
84 Years Old, a Suicide

New York, Jan. 30.—Mrs. Helen Knickerbocker, 84, widow of Henry Knickerbocker, millionaire paper manufacturer, committed suicide tonight by jumping from the window of her apartment on the eleventh floor of an apartment house at 135 Central Park west.

LIFE IN JAIL TOO EASY, HUSBAND IS LET OUT TO WORK

Just Like Best Hotels,
Judge Is Told.

The all-mony club at the county jail has lost one of its most popular members. Joseph Wegryn, 3312 Manistee avenue, father of three children, has some home to work for his family.

Yesterday Judge Joseph Sabath in the Superior court ordered the divorce proceedings brought by Mrs. Helen Wegryn dropped after he had learned that Wegryn had gained twenty-seven pounds during the two months he has languished in ease and comfort behind the bars.

"Yes, I am ready for work," said the husband whose failure to pay alimony to his wife during the pending litigation had brought him in contempt of court.

Home was never as comfortable as the "Graystone inn" in North Dearborn street, where the All-mony club has its headquarters, Wegryn told the judge.

Jail Is a Fine Place.
"It is a nice place over there, your honor," he said, "and they certainly treat you fine. Every one keeps regular hours and there is no such thing as staying out late nights."

"We get up at 8 o'clock, make our toilet in the privacy of our own compartments, and when the room has been swept and dusted by those employed for that purpose we have breakfast served to us in our rooms."

"After breakfast we take a little nap, or read if we have a mind. Then about 9 o'clock we stroll about the spacious corridor in the center of the building."

"There is nothing to bother us, no cares or worries as to where our next meal is coming from, and at 11:30 we again retire to our rooms for lunch. The noon repast is followed by another little siesta and from 2 to 4 we again stroll about, discuss politics and plan how to make the world safe for democracy."

Interesting but Confining.

"The hum of the great city all about us subsides gradually as we dress for dinner by again cleansing our faces and hair in our own wash basins. In an hour or so dinner is cleared away (we always dine in private), and a general discussion of the relative merits of burglary or the more aristocratic safe blowing as professions is indulged in by our neighbors in the tier of cells above and below. Altogether it is very interesting and comfortable, though a little confining."

Mrs. Wegryn intimated that a reconciliation with her husband had been effected and asked the court to release him. Judge Sabath decided the All-mony club could exist without its seventy-second member.

Mrs. F. A. Dillingham, 629 Sheridan road, owner of a patent medicine business, was arraigned yesterday in the Chicago avenue court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. She will be taken to the psychopathic hospital for an examination. The case was continued to Feb. 24.

Richard Briscoe, her secretary, who preferred the charges, will appear on the same day.

Briscoe said Mrs. Dillingham threatened him with a revolver when he was staying at her sister-in-law's home, 118 East Ohio street. She threatened to kill him, he said, when he refused to return to her home. Mrs. Dillingham charges Briscoe with stealing a $1,000 ring.

After Operation.

New York, Jan. 30.—The condition of Lucien Muratore, leading tenor of the Chicago Grand Opera company, who today underwent what surgeons termed an "imperative" operation for appendicitis, was pronounced "very good" tonight.

A bulletin issued by the operating surgeons said that although the appendix had been so acutely inflamed as to make an immediate operation necessary "his recovery should be uninterrupted."

While no formal bulletin was issued tonight it was said that the tenor was not in pain and that his pulse was satisfactory. He suffered no distress or nausea after the operation.

Mrs. Muratore, better known as Lina Cavalleri, waited in an anteroom, with Harold F. McCormick, principal patron of the Chicago Opera company, during the hour Muratore was on the operating table. The operation took place in the same room in which Mrs. Muratore was operated on eight years ago for the same complaint.

The operation was performed by Dr. C. F. A. Locke, with Dr. Aspinwall Judd assisting.

The singer had protested against the operation. It was through the influence of Harold F. McCormick, who rushed to his bedside, that he finally consented. Departure of the ambulance to the hospital, however, was delayed because the tenor insisted that he be shaved before leaving his apartment.

EDWIN J. RABER.

Flat Janitors' union are on trial before Judge John A. Swanson, closing arguments to the jury were begun without any defense being offered on behalf of the labor leaders.

The state, after a lengthy argument, had obtained the admission of a document, said to be in the handwriting of Quessie, in which business agents of the union were given power to levy "fines" against janitors and property owners, the money received from such fines to be used to pay the expenses incurred by the business agents in levying them.

With the admission of the document Mr. Raber announced that the state had closed its case. Then Attorney Joseph Harrington and W. O'Brien, of counsel for the labor officials, stated that they had no defense to make. Closing arguments were then begun and it is possible that the case may go to the jury tonight.

Shortly after the noon recess Prosecutor Raber exhibited a death threat which he had received through the mails. The letter, which was unsigned, warned him to "go easy" on the janitors, threatening that there would be a funeral in the state's attorney's office for every conviction "he obtained."

After six days of labor, four men were selected yesterday to sit on the jury which will try Simon O'Donnell, former president of the Chicago Building Trades council, and three other labor officials who are on trial before Judge John R. Caverly.

The four men are Henry A. Roent, 7505 Kenwood avenue, a clerk; Henry Abel, 1126 Milwaukee avenue, a printer; Joseph P. Franz, 2736 West 36th street, a clerk, and Jerome C. Keller, 1924 Fletcher street, a clerk.

DEAD, 1 DYING; SCORES HELD UP BY GUN TOTERS

Unrestricted Sale of Arms
Takes Toll.

From city and state officials and public organizations were yesterday morning into a campaign to attempt to thwart the wholesale shipment of guns into Chicago, one man was killed, another was shot and probably fatally injured, and there were a dozen holdups and attempted robberies. In each case the bandits were armed with automatic pistols and revolvers. Where did they get them?

Chicago's crime camorra performed a good day's work yesterday—and recruited several new members to their cause. At the end of the day one body lay in a morgue, another man was dying in the county hospital, and many citizens were mourning the loss of personal property. Three of the camorra's membership were locked up in jail—caught in the act of a holdup.

Charles Cascino, 25 years old, 1226 Front Street, his body was found yesterday behind the prescription counter of the R. & N. pharmacy, 948 Orleans street, early yesterday morning. The body was found in a closed room, the proprietor had recently reopened it as an attempt to sell it.

The body was found in the drug store by a clerk when he arrived for his day's work. A bullet hole was in the temple. Police believe Cascino was killed in an attempted whisky robbery. Alexander Golch, 1521 West Ohio street, a watchman employed in the city, has been arrested several times for carrying his gun out of doors. But somehow the judge always let him go either on suspension or with a light fine. "I'll never hurt any one," he said.

Last night Golch shot and probably fatally wounded Benjamin Wall, 51 years old, 1608 West Ohio street, in a "friendly" argument over the stock exchange strike. Wall is at the county hospital; Golch is in jail.

Bought Mail Order Gun.
Albert Labay, saloonkeeper at 2601 West 11th street, bought a shotgun and a pistol from a mail order house not so long ago. Yesterday Mrs. Labay attempted to shoot down a policeman, member of a squad raiding the saloon. She was disarmed. Both man and wife are in jail; the police seized a quantity of moonshine in the saloon.

"We read of easy stickups in Chicago, so we got guns sent to us by a Chicago gun dealer, then we stole a Ford and came to Chicago to be robbed," said John Ballard, 17 year old boy of Aurora, Ill., arrested with two companions, Walter Sherman, 19 years old, and Glen Carlson, 16 years old, last night in a State street restaurant.

Charge purchases made today will, on request, be posted to February account, payable in March.

AGAIN THE GUN

MRS. EINER JOHNSON AND KENNETH JOHNSON.

FOLLOWS QUARREL

Angered by the accusations of Einer Johnson, 29 years old, 2723 St. George court, respecting attentions shown Mrs. Johnson, Clarence Burruss, a stationary fireman, went to the Johnson home yesterday and shot his accuser three times. Johnson was seriously wounded. Burruss lives at 2291 Milwaukee avenue.

It is said Johnson and Burruss quarreled following a party which they attended and it was at that time that Johnson told Burruss "to quit paying attention" to Mrs. Johnson.

Burruss, who is single, is said to have brooded over the accusations, in the end becoming so enraged that he sought to kill Johnson.

All three had heavy caliber automatic pistols. They're in jail.

Three men stopped Harold Pickert, 2136 Beretay avenue, in front of 4447 Magnolia avenue. All three had guns.

Hit Him in the Jaw.

"Hand over your money and keep quiet," one said. Pickert hit him in the jaw, at the same time kicking the second of the trio in the stomach. The third man fled. While Pickert was calling the police the other two made their escape. They kept their guns. Caswell House, 3559 West 22d street, a collector for the Illinois Bell Telephone company, met two colored men in a hallway at 5018 Federal street. Both colored men had guns. House is minus a bag containing $150 in nickels. The bandits escaped; they still have their guns.

Clark Norman, 23 years old, and John H. Carr, 24 years old, came here from Rochester, N. Y., a few weeks ago. With them came two automatic pistols. Yesterday morning they held up the Commonwealth Watch and Jewelry company, 325 West Madison street.

Adolph Coone, 1956 West Jackson boulevard, robbed of $15 and a watch at Monroe and Robey streets. Both bandits had guns.

Policeman William J. Brown of the Stanton avenue station was shot in the right hand last night by one of three Negroes whom he attempted to question at East Thirty-fifth street and Grand boulevard.

William F. McDonald, 23 years old, 4144 Princeton avenue, found shot in the left side in his home late last night by the police of the Stockyards station, is believed to have been wounded while participating in a robbery.

A plea for federal legislation against the methods by which crimes like those above can be committed was issued yesterday by Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlain, operating director of the Chicago crime commission.

"Unarmed criminals commit few crimes, Illinois, as well as other states, has laws prohibiting the carrying of concealed firearms and other weapons. The professional criminal, anarchist, and outlaw obtains revolvers and small weapons with little difficulty.

"Even if the Illinois law were rigidly enforced, the Chicago criminal can purchase all the pistols for which he has money to pay from mail order houses who use the United States mails for delivery. He also obtains weapons in nearby states where the regulation is lax.

"These conditions have led police authorities, prosecutors, and other law enforcing agencies to conclude that this evil can be curbed effectively only through federal legislation. For this reason the Chicago crime commission has given favorable consideration to the Shields bill, which prohibits interstate shipment of these weapons and which leaves the way open for adequate intrastate regulation."

CARDINALS IN ROYAL ROBES PAY HONOR TO POPE

BY LARRY RUE.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
[Copyright: 1922: By The Chicago Tribune.]
ROME, Jan. 30.—Imposing solemnity and majestic splendor marked the first of the last three requiem masses in honor of Pope Benedict, which was sung today in the Sistine chapel. Only 200 invitations were issued, but before 9:15 a. m. every seat was occupied in the fore part of the chapel, which is separated by a wooden grill from the other half of the long narrow hall made famous by the frescoes of Michael Angelo depicting the history of the Bible from creation to the day of the last judgment.

An octagonal catafalque had been erected on which rested the papal tiara surrounded by numerous candles. The sides of the catafalque bore Pope Benedict's coat of arms and eulogistic inscriptions.

Along the top of the grill, through which the audience viewed the ceremony, torches were burned. The Noble guards in magnificent uniforms and with drawn sabers were stationed around the catafalque, while along the center aisle was a cordon of Swiss guards and crusaders.

Cardinals in Purple and Ermine.

A hushed silence fell over the audience when promptly at 9:30 the cardinals, attired in purple and ermine, wearing red hats and attended by gorgeously dressed chamberlains, entered. Behind came bishops and lesser prelates. Slowly and solemnly the procession led by Cardinal Gasparri moved. Although most of the cardinals were bowed with age, a few carried themselves erect and almost militarily. The pallor of the faces of these cardinals, one of whom is to be the new pope, added a deeper impressive note to the ceremonies. The cardinals seated themselves in plush chairs flanking the catafalque while the lesser dignitaries took seats in the rear. The smell of incense permeated the chapel.

The Sistine choir, led by Maestro Perosi, the famous composer of sacred music, chanted the requiem.

Conducted by Cardinal de Lai.

Cardinal de Lai, the vice deacon of the sacred college, conducted the services. After mass the catafalque was sprinkled with holy water. Five absolutions were given. After the ceremonies the cardinals passed out as they had entered, between triple cordons of Noble guards, Palatine soldiers and Vatican gendarmes standing at attention in lines extending from the chapel through the gorgeous Sala Regia.

In the audience besides the Vatican officials and the diplomatic corps attached to the holy see, were deputations from the Ancient Order of Malta, the pope's nephew, Marquis Chiesi, and several women relatives.

Singer Mars Services.
As the procession was passing out an altercation between a member of the choir and the Palatine guard at the door caused a disturbance.

The singer attempted to march out with the procession, but he was stopped by the gendarme, whereupon the former abused the guard and shouted, "Down with the pope!" After three minutes' confusion the singer was finally led away by four guards with drawn sabres in their hands, to headquarters.

It was stated that the singer had gone insane and would be sent immediately to an asylum.
Cardinal Logue of Ireland arrived here today.

QUICK RELIEF FROM SORE THROAT

PEOPLE nowadays recognize that a sore throat is a danger spot, as the inflamed tissues form an ideal soil for germs to multiply.

With gargles it is impossible to keep a sore throat under anything like effective treatment. With Formamint, whether you are at work, or in crowded car, shop, theatre or church, you can dissolve, now and then, one of these pleasant tasting, powerfully antiseptic tablets in your mouth.

An effective antiseptic is released and, carried by the saliva, continuously bathes the tissues, checks germ growth and soothes the throat, possibly preventing laryngitis, tonsillitis, "flu." Relieves hoarseness. Helpful for singers, actors, smokers, speakers, lecturers, etc. Children like them. 60c at all druggists.

PARKER UPSETS BRUNDAGE AND DENEEN SLATE

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.

Brundage-Deneen Republicans and the Democratic slate makers reopened operations from the beginning yesterday.

William R. Parker, who was slated for county treasurer on the Deneen-Brundage ticket, made it known that he prefers to be a candidate for clerk of the Criminal court rather than county treasurer. This, in effect, will cause reconstruction of the ticket, most agreed upon, based upon Mr. Parker's candidacy for treasurer.

Leaders said last night that it will be three or four days before there is a definite agreement between the Brundage and Deneen forces on a ticket. Strong rumors having to do with the candidacy of Ald. Walter Steffen of the

E. K. JARECKI.

Twenty-third ward were discounted by north side political factors. State's Attorney Crowe said, in behalf of the Crowe and city hall Republicans, no decision had been reached as to candidates on their slate further than already announced. For county commissioner, Mr. Crowe said, a service man is in prospect, whose name will be announced today, following his resignation from an office in the American Legion, which has a rule against active politics by an incumbent of a Legion office.

Democrats Hit Ryan. The Democratic committee of seventeen split three or four ways after disbaring President Daniel Ryan of the board of county commissioners for re-nomination. The slate-makers, by a vote of 9 to 5, decided to recommend Anton J. Cermak for president of the county board, instead of President Ryan.

The Democratic slate-makers, Chairman Dalley said, expect to get down to actual details today. The tentative vote within the committee of seventeen slates Chairman Dalley for the nomination for sheriff.

Jarecki for County Judge. For county judge the latest test vote gave a lead to Edmund K. Jarecki, who showed seven votes to six for James C. Jeffery and three for Michael L. Igoe. This place is still an open proposition within the slate-makers.

For clerk of the Probate court Henry A. Zender of the Twenty-sixth ward was slated unanimously. Early in the proceedings unanimous vote for re-nomination went to County Clerk Robert M. Switzer, County Treasurer Patrick J. Carr, Probate Court Judge Henry Horner, and Superintendent of Schools Edward J. Tobin.

The Wonderful Human Body

And Athletics Worth While.

Copyright 1922, by Underwood Typewriter Co., Inc.

GEORGE L. HOSSFELD, CHAMPION TYPEWRITER OF THE WORLD.

Here is, for the time being, the world's champion typewriter and a really useful athlete.

He beat all comers, writing steadily for one hour, 136 WORDS A MINUTE, which means twelve strokes a second.

Look at the second hand as it moves on your watch, or count 1, and realize that what it means for the human brain to order and carry out twelve different motions of the fingers in one second. There is intensified mental athletics that makes the hundred-yard dash, the pole vault or the Marathon seem slow, to say nothing of being useless.

As this young man wrote in the contest, he read and copied a story which he had not seen before, called "In God's Country." And do you realize the various operations included in that marvelous performance of twelve strokes per second.

The eye read the word. The nerves of the eye told the brain what word was to be written. The brain told the fingers what the letters were, where they were located on the machine, and the flying fingers, taking the knowledge that first came to the eye or the afferent nerves, and the order they came down the neck, the arms to the finger tips through the efferent nerves, made the twelve strokes successfully.

He kept his mind entirely on that for one hour. That wonderful dynamo, that stored energy, the eye seeing, the brain immediately transforming the printed word in the letters, the nerve and the muscles in the fingers carrying out the brain's orders. It is difficult to conceive anything more remarkable. Young Mr. Hossfeld may well include in his daily prayer: "I will praise the Lord, for I am fearfully and wonderfully made." It takes intelligence to do good typewriting; it takes extraordinary adaptability, co-ordination of nerves and muscles, steadiness and will power to do what this young man did.

He deserves praise, as does every man who does A USEFUL THING AS WELL AS IT CAN POSSIBLY BE DONE.

EQUAL, almost, to the "Wonderful Human Body" is the Underwood Typewriter, used by Mr. Hossfeld, and ALL previous world's champion typists for 16 consecutive years. It is so scientifically designed, so skillfully manufactured, that it responds with unerring accuracy even at the marvelous speed of 12 strokes per second.

PEERLESS

R. H. Collins believes that the fabrication of fine motor cars is truly an art—but also a business. He believes in surrounding himself with the greatest talent money can command. He believes that creative genius should have full play, subject only to business guidance and control.

He believes that organization is great, but that organization-leadership is absolutely necessary. He is convinced that the best ability, so guided, must result in a great car—great value for the public first, and afterward, recognition and reward for everyone associated with him in factory and in field.

NATIONS MUST HURL ALL POWER IN FUTURE WARS'

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(Copyright, 1932, by The Chicago Tribune.)

PARIS, Jan. 30.—"The next war will reveal a transformation from individual armed combat units into collective units," said Gen. Debeney today. He was attached to Gen. Foch's staff during the war and after-ward commanded the First French army.

"The new weapons will be tanks, aeroplanes, and gas served by specially trained crews. Obsolete weapons, such as rifles and cannon, will be transformed into machine guns, automatics, and batteries."

"In the next war the front trenches will be lightly held by skeleton detachments as observers and listeners to give warnings. The defense of these will be echeloned in depth, owing to the numerous personnel necessary to serve the machinery utilized."

"In order to organize our defense we should prepare for national mobilization, including all resources—troops, industry, agriculture, administration, and colonies. Nations isolated by oceans can confide covering operations to fleets, using a small professional army pending general mobilization. We need a strong navy to protect our colonial mobilization."

SUCH A BUSINESS!

MRS. BERTHA WRIGHT.

(Tribune Photo.)

It was when Mrs. Bertha Wright returned from the market bearing a herring that she found burglars had been in her home at 1519 Roosevelt road. She pushed past the furniture they had piled against the front door and couldn't find "Morrie," her husband.

She told the police they had kidnapped "Morrie." A few minutes later she called again to report the burglars also had taken divorce papers belonging to a boarder, "Jake," Volavski.

Bulletin No. 3 to the police was: "Never mind about Morrie." He had been asleep, she said.

Bulletin No. 4: "Never mind about the divorce papers; Jake says he should be so foolish as to hunt papers he can get copies of for a couple dollars."

N. U. FACULTY 70 PER CENT WED, BULLETIN SHOWS

Seventy per cent of the faculty members of Northwestern university are married. Of the unmarried professors and instructors 19 per cent are living with their mothers. This was revealed yesterday by a bulletin issued by the College of Liberal Arts. There are 132 members of the faculty, of whom ninety-two are married. The McMill School of Journalism is the only college of the university where all faculty members are married.

A LESSON IN THE AUTO SHOW.

The annual automobile show at the Coliseum, which is now attracting the attention of many thousands of Chicagoans and other middle westerners, has a dual value to the community and to the country. In addition to displaying and selling automobiles, thereby stimulating this phase of industry, it furnishes an object lesson to all lines of legitimate business.

The development of this business in America has been phenomenal. It has been so chiefly because of two things: it fills a natural human desire or need for quick, comfortable and mobile transportation, and it does so with a constantly improving product, which leaves its customers pleased with what they have had but eager to take advantage of further improvements. That is good business. Other businesses might profitably take a leaf from the same book of principles.

The automobile industry does not spend its time pleading before congress for special privileges, rights, or advantages. It does not ask for government loans or similar methods of assistance. It goes energetically along, improving its product, cutting off waste of factory and distribution methods, reducing cost of maintenance for its patrons, advertising its advances, and convincing the buying public that the product offered is now worth the money asked, and will continue to be worth the price paid. In that practice it prospers.

How greatly it prospers as an industry is revealed in a few figures. In 1914, we sold 1,600,000 motor cars and trucks were in commission in the United States. Today there are 16,000,000. Nearly 100,000 more automobile licenses were issued in Illinois in 1921 than in 1920—and 1921 was the first full calendar year of general business depression succeeding the war. These figures tell several stories. One is that despite the widespread protests concerning hard times, lack of money, etc., there is a lot of money still available in this country to buy things, if the public wants these things and is convinced that it will get full value for its money. Another is that the public has been so convinced by the automobile industry.

Despite business depression we had the money in Illinois last year for 79,879 additional passenger automobiles. We spent the money for the cars because we were convinced that we were getting our money's worth. We were so convinced because the automobile dealers, by wise advertising of good products, justified our faith. This year, probably, we will buy still more. If we do, it will be because last year's promises by the manufacturers were made good by their cars, in general, and because this year they have grasped an important economic trend, and specialized in the production of cars of reduced cost of maintenance. They have studied the people who make up their market, and have come to realize that the ordinary motorist is interested as much in the cost of operating a car as in the cost of purchasing one. That is true economy, and the manufacturers and dealers realize it, and are prepared to profit by it.

It all goes to show what keen, capable, American business men can do if they put both brains and energy into their businesses. All automobile manufacturers have not followed that practice, and some have taken heavy losses and been forced to reorganization and readjustment in consequence, but the substantial tendency of the business has been in that direction. And now the automobile business is on its feet and moving ahead. If other businesses will follow similar tactics, the economic and industrial revival of the country will be assured.

WHEN COLLEGE PLAYERS PLAY FOR MONEY.

Nine University of Illinois athletes played football in Taylorville, Ill., after the conference season, against a team on which were eight Notre Dame players. They were discovered because it was talked around that Illinois had beaten Notre Dame, and all have been declared ineligible for college athletics. The Notre Dame players have also been disqualified.

The men knew they were breaking a rule, and probably have no complaint to make; but the rule is more than questionable. It exposes the suspicions which colleges have of themselves. If the young men now in bad at Illinois were attending that school because they wanted its educational advantages, if they engaged in college athletics for the love of it and for their college, there is no sensible reason why they should not play football or anything else for money, providing that did not interfere with the purpose for which they went to college.

If members of the glee club got positions in choirs and were paid for singing on Sunday, they would not be declared ineligible for the glee club because they made money singing. A baseball player could take odd jobs as furnace man, or a football player could get a job as a waiter or dish washer, which would be less enjoyable and less beneficial and less profitable than using their particular skill in the games in which they were proficient, and making money in such fashion would not bar them from sports.

We can see an educational injury in allowing college boys to run around the country playing as semi-professionals in school months, but that could be corrected without declaring as a principle that any college athlete who ever received money for his athletic proficiency could not continue in college sports.

This is a purely conventional idea with its roots in the English caste system. The thing desired is that the boy should be in college because he wants an education, that his choice of a college is not determined by what he could get there for his athletic wares, and that he plays for his college without pay. Then what he can earn by playing elsewhere at times which do not mean encroachment on his studies and college requirements is properly his. The rule is in its worst form when it prohibits college baseball players from playing semi-professional ball in the summer. The boy can hire out as a life guard, as a dancing teacher, as a waiter or chair man at a summer resort to earn money for his next year's college expenses, but he cannot hire out as a player on a resort baseball team without losing the right to play baseball for his college. That is not sensible.

We do not want college sports commercialized, but there is a difference between getting professionals in college to make records in sports and declaring a college boy a professional in college sports because he has used his skill to make money outside of college sports.

CHICAGO TO THE AUCTION BLOCK?

Chicago's delegates in the constitutional convention have not taken the position that they would not accept an equalizing principle of representation in the state legislature. They have been willing to meet the country delegates in a compromise which would restrict Chicago's representation in one branch of the assembly, in the senate. What they fight and what the city will fight is restriction in both branches. That would be disfranchisement, and it is, unfortunately, what the most zealous and most active restrictionists want.

Restriction of Chicago in the senate to one-third of the membership would be a check on any possible dominance of the state by Chicago's population. It would mean that laws passed by the assembly would be equitable adjustments of metropolitan and rural needs and desires.

If Chicago were reduced arbitrarily below true representation in both houses it would mean that, regardless of what the Chicago population might become, the city would take its laws from downstate, without a voice in their enactment. That political injustice is precisely what is demanded! The proponents of it do not care anything for political liberties. They desire to accomplish a purpose by disfranchisement, by taking votes away from one section of the population in order that another section may write its ideas and its desires into laws.

No such political scheme can stand long in this country, except where whites successfully disfranchise blacks. The restrictionists will not be allowed to sell Chicago down the river.

RUBBING IT IN.

We'll say that the Illinois Central has not been exactly a glut for electrification. It has come to it about as willingly as a boy goes to the dentist, but it has come and if the official promises hold good an important betterment in Chicago traction will be on its way in three months, with plans for subway connections.

The subway connections would be great for the transportation of the city, but how long will they remain on paper as pathetic indications of a trust in community common sense which was entirely unwarranted?

The Illinois Central users may some day get a great improvement in their already good service, but if things go elsewhere as they are going, the other car users will be taking more time to get about, as years go by, and will be packed more deeply in the cars.

PLAYING WITH DYNAMITE.

The Committee of Fifteen did a good job for public defence when it exposed conditions at the Entertainers' cafe and the decision of Judge Heap should make certain that this resort remain a thing of the past. It was not only vicious in its influence. It was even worse. It was a powder magazine. It brought bad elements of the white and colored people together under inflammatory conditions and eventually that was certain to bring about a race collision, which might easily have the most terrible consequences.

What is true of the Entertainers' cafe is true of other similar resorts called "black and tan." They are a continuing menace of the most serious character, especially to our reputable colored residents, who might be the chief sufferers from an outbreak of race passion. This Tribune has repeatedly called attention to this evil and we hope public opinion will make itself felt so emphatically that the city authorities will be compelled to clean up thoroughly.

THE WIND CHANGES.

Mr. Gompers now coyly admits that the injunction process has its good points. Reason: It has been used by a labor union to restrain employers.

From this viewpoint a restraining order ceases to be government by injunction, and if labor unions now find them useful for the protection of their rights we shall hear no more in labor politics about abolishing the process.

The injunction doubtless sometimes has been abused, courts being human and fallible, but it is an invaluable protection for law abiding citizens, whether employers or employees, and should be neither abolished nor crippled. Doubtless it was human for labor unions to dislike it when it was used against their activities, but the more sensible alternative is to make use of it rather than ask its abolition. The injunction process will not be given up, for it is useful if not indeed essential to the protection of rights.

Editorial of the Day

CHICAGO AND THE TOWNS OF B. C.

[Vancouver Sun.]

Chicago is the distributing point for an immediate area composed roughly of Illinois, Iowa, eastern Nebraska, northeastern Kansas, and northern Missouri. In this area corn is grown, and from this corn production is raised the stock that makes Chicago the second city in the United States.

This year in this tributary area there is a five-hundred-and-seventy-million-bushel surplus of corn, which must be worked off. Suggestions have been made that the corn acreage in the surplus territory be reduced. The logical and probable solution will be an increase in stock and hog raising to absorb the surplus this year and in the future.

This will mean a gradual spreading of the area tributary to Chicago and an even greater increase in Chicago's prosperity. No matter how this surplus is disposed of, it will find its way through Chicago.

About seventy years ago Chicago was a trading post, surrounded by a totally undeveloped agricultural district. Now, barring the artificial manipulation which draws money to New York, Chicago is the commercial center of the richest nation in the world. Two features have contributed to Chicago's phenomenal growth—transportation systems and agriculture.

Chilliwack in the upper Fraser valley, Nelson and Creston in the Kootenays, Kamloops, Penticton in the Okanagan, Pouce Coupe in Peace River, Quesnel in Cariboo, are today miniature versions of the Chicago of seventy years ago.

They have similar agricultural potentialities. They need the same things Chicago needed then. With proper development and adequate transportation facilities there is nothing to prevent these towns of British Columbia becoming great business centers in the course of the next two generations.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

CHICAGO.

Last night I had a wondrous dream of thee: I seemed to stand upon a lofty tower While morning blossomed like a lotus flower Upon the breast of thy untroubled sea, Revealing all thy bright immensity— A modern Athens at her height of power; With exaltation blest, I gazed an hour, And caught a gleam that set my spirit free. I woke unto the ways of fevered men, Awoke to duties full of strife and care; But I could never be the same again, For I had breathed the unpolluted air. That whispers not in hopeless hive and den, But speaks to heights and those who worship there.

LARA BLACKBURN.

THE APPAREL BANDIT.

Dinner-dips sometimes make. Very often female. Languidly swap orange ticks for expensive garb. Scramble hats and scarves dexterously. Chase drooping of eyes. Females vastly overestimate their own pulchritude. Reach over shoulders to grab check from cake-eater with two bits. Upstage as paubuses. Distract chatter with puddle-jumper pals. Peruse snappierettes between lingers at kielbasa. For your penny worth you dine. Four husky stewards required to ferry one two-pound raincoat from shoulders to hook. Clank dime-box suggestively. Garment-guerillas hurl pondard-glances at oiseau who fail to dig. Faultless memories. Dime gets you runt. Two bits a smile. Half a yard brands you "live one" or "stump," according to brand's make. Upkeep of ulster with raincoat-robbers far exceeds original cost. Three-buck chapeau will stand you twenty meg in year.

LIT-TLE VANGIE'S DIS-AP-POINTMENT.

Little Vangie had her day off as usual last Sunday. Uncle R. H. L. said I have a fine I-deah Hank. All right said Uncle Hank and she said I think Vangie is lonesome said Uncle R. H. L. and she said I'm permitted to romp with some young friend of her own age. So said Uncle R. H. L. and she said I think Vangie down to the Cliff Dwellers Club to play with I-ris Daphne the Cliff Dwellers Club. That is a perfectly fine I-deah said Uncle Hank and she said I'm delighted with her girl-to-be and every thing on yo hicks and away. So they all walked merrily down the great Boul Mich until they came to the Cliff Dwellers. Nix on this place said Uncle Hank it is full of poets and Vangie may spread hav-o-c among such as they. But Uncle R. H. L. knocked and Mister Ralph Clark on the president appeared with I-ris Daphne in the ofing. Mister Clark-son looked up-sid-cloously at Uncle Hank, Vangie and Uncle R. H. L. as well he might. Your looks are cold said Uncle R. H. L. because you and the new board of directors have is-ed a-u-kase that hip I-quor can-not be ear-ried with-in the sac-red pre-cincts of you club but that does not apply to us because al-though we had each-ed a-pply to ad-denda for our day off it was dis-covered by the Chi-cago re-pre-sen-ta-tive of the New York News one Will-I-am Mack Kay-say no more said Mister Clark-son but you can-not enter this hal-cy-on re-treat. But why not why-ed Uncle Hank per-sist-ent-ly. Because said Mister Clark-son it is hard enough keep-ing a watch-ful eye on or-di-nary people but said Mister Clark-son when some-thing like that comes along he said point-ing an ac-cu-sing fin-ger at Vangie that has four hips we cer-tain-ly and most em-phat-ic-ally draw the line. There-up-on the great doors closed. It is im-ma-to-ri-al said Uncle Hank let us trail, that Mack Kay ban-dit to his lair.

BETHTA AND THE GIRLS.

TO THE WALL! TO THE WALL! R. H. L.: This spoke a lady speaker at a woman's club in Chicago last week: "I will tell you that towards the end of the great war the French and British adopted the policy of shooting their shell shocked soldiers. I KNOW that the French shot down one entire regiment of shell shocked men." This seems a bit drastic, and yet—Ah, why should we not adopt it? One of the most shell shocked things we have among us today is Grand Opera in English. O, by all means let us turn loose the firing squad on Grand Opera in English. And, after that, fellow Contri-be—well, what have you?

TO OLIVE DOUGLAS. To her who scorns the lip-stick and the rouge I doff my hat. Were other maids as wise As she, the mirror sex would higher prize Their charms, and be more keen to quickly choose Their partners true. For any man who's wise Does willingly admit, a painted face Will not beguile his choice, or fill the place Of one whose modesty attracts his eyes.

I am no swain who seeks a youthful mate.

My looks are turning gray, my children grown; But I would urge that hope, so often late, Is still within your reach. With roses strewn Your path may be. The springtime comes again, Hery's hope that then, glad smiles will wreath your face.

Like all Colum conductors, we have been accused of everything, from petty larceny to manslaughter, but, thank heaven, we do defy any one to prove that we played in that football game between Carlinville and Taylorville.

INHERITANCE OF SYPHILIS.
"V"ISITING THE INQUIRY of the fathers upon the children and upon the children's children unto the third and fourth generation." Exodus xxxv.
Although the contract in which this statement appears, and also that of the repetitions in Exodus xx. and Deuteronomy v. would indicate that another inquiry was in mind, biological eugenicists, and physicians have frequently been disposed to hold that inheritance of physical qualities was referred to, and the physical infirmity that has bulked largest in the discussion is syphilis.
Some of them would have the text read: "Visiting the syphilis of the fathers upon the children even unto the third and fourth generation."
But this view has not been allowed to go unchallenged.
Sir Joseph Hutchinson, one of the world's greatest syphilographers, held that inheritance of syphilis by the third generation was impossible. He held that two years after infection a person could not transmit the disease; therefore, inheritance could not run to the third generation.
Dr. Keyes held with Sir Jonathan, it being his view, that the infectivity of syphilis ceased in about four years, and a woman would not bear children with inherited syphilis ten years after she was infected.

On the other hand, Poulton, Tarnowsky, Gaucher, and Adams hold that syphilis is infectious of the third and fourth generations is possible.
Dr. Poulton thinks that the entire subject must be reopened and the views and facts tested out by the newer methods of diagnosis of syphilis.

He reports a family in which syphilis manifested itself in several children of the third generation. In the study of these cases all the latest tests and procedures were employed.
A certain woman had inherited syphilis. This was proven by positive Wassermann reactions. She denied that she had ever acquired syphilis, and there was no evidence that she had.

That it was a second generation case was proven by characteristic fissures across the lips and radiating scars at the corners of the mouth.
The father of her younger children gave no evidence of syphilis, though he had been living with her for eleven years.

The oldest child, the daughter of a first husband, had inherited syphilis. Her blood showed a positive Wassermann. She gave no history of a syphilitic rash in infancy, nor annals during that period. She had the typically cupped teeth set irregularly, and commonly known as the syphilitic teeth of Hutchinson. Her mind was that of a high grade moron, subject to occasional convulsions and minor nervous disturbances. Her teeth set irregularly, and commonly known as the syphilitic teeth of Hutchinson. Her mind was that of a high grade moron, subject to occasional convulsions and minor nervous disturbances.

The matter is one of choice, not of danger of necessity. If the family is to be kept in good health, and the disease is to be kept from the next generation, the matter is one of choice, not of danger of necessity. If the family is to be kept in good health, and the disease is to be kept from the next generation, the matter is one of choice, not of danger of necessity.

The amount of good milk is generally set at one pint, at nine hours. Tennis, golf and horseback riding are good forms of exercise.

THE IDEA IS FRESH AIR.
R. W. writes: "Will you tell me if it is dangerous to sleep with a window open so that there is a strong draft about one's head? There is a strong window at the other side of the room and this is right beside the bed."

Some people prefer to sleep in a draft. They like to have it cool the face. They get better sleep that way. More people sleep with a window open, but with the draft deflected. Good health is possible with either plan. The matter is one of choice, not of danger of necessity. If the family is to be kept in good health, and the disease is to be kept from the next generation, the matter is one of choice, not of danger of necessity.

MEMORY TESTS
Can You Answer These?
Answers to these questions will be published tomorrow.

1. Where is Roosevelt dam?
2. Which of all American coins would bring the largest price under the competitive bidding of numismatists?
3. What is tuberculosis?
4. Where do we find the highest dwelling in Europe?
5. Where is the Hood canal?
6. What is the sodic?
7. What is a "light year"?
8. Where does the quotation, "Sweet are the uses of adversity," occur, and give the next two lines?
9. What is the total area of the earth?
10. When were the first Negro slaves imported into this country?

Answers to Yesterday's Questions.
1. Is Havana east or west of Cleveland, Ohio? It's west.
2. Who was Lewis Carroll? Author of "Alice in Wonderland." Pseudonym of C. L. Dodgson.
3. Who was the ruler of Persia that captured Babylon by turning the Euphrates river from its bed? Cyrus the Great.
4. For what are the Juan Fernandez Islands noted? Where are they? It was on Juan Fernandez that Alexander Selkirk was marooned. His story gave Daniel Defoe the main idea embodied in Robinson Crusoe. These islands are about 380 miles off Valparaiso, Chile.
5. What is the distance by boat from San Francisco to New York via Panama canal? 5,290 miles.
6. What is a steppe? A vast, nearly level plain devoid of forest. Applicable to the extensive plains of Russia and Siberia.
7. What is the average depth of the English channel? The average depth of the channel is from 200 to 300 feet. The deepest sounding is 105 fathoms, or 630 feet.
8. Where does the quotation, "Sweet are the uses of adversity," occur? It never told her love, but hid concealment, like a worm in the bud, fed on her damask cheek, occur? "Twelfth Night," act II, scene 4.
9. When and where was the first drawing for the selective draft? The official drawing of numbers to determine the men of the country to constitute the first draft for the national army was July 30, 1917, in the office building of the United States senate.
10. When was the selective draft law passed and for what purpose? The select service law was an act of congress, which came into full force May 19, 1917. Its purpose was the raising of troops to carry on the war against Germany. It was drawn to create a "national army."

HOW POOR IS THE FARMER?
Florida, Ill., Jan. 28.—Out goes the S. O. S. for the poor farmer. Let's see how poor he is. Compare prices with pre-war prices, and he will find that he is only recovering from a spree he indulged in during the war. When the government guaranteed his crops, many of them absolutely refused to sell, but wanted more. Of course the poor stump that bought a farm when he was on a spree at $400 to $500 per acre is now shivering up. Of course he used bad judgment in paying such prices, but we are to be milked to satisfy him? Let him take his loss like a man, charge loss to bad judgment, and try again. He has learned a lesson. It's the same lesson learned after the civil war.

THE MARRIED WOMAN ON THE JOB.
Chicago, Jan. 28.—What about married women taking jobs that could be filled by the unmarried or self-supporting widow? Here is one of many cases, and I believe if the general public knew that it is the rule rather than an exception, certain shops would not be so well patronized. In a shop on State street, the wife of a loop physician is employed wearing a gown costing $207. A bright girl who is struggling along living at the T. W. is discharged because business is poor when this about the limit?

STATE IMPLIES "BAD FAITH" BY SMALL LAWYERS

BY PARKE BROWN.

Implied charges that the defense in the case of Gov. Len Small has been guilty of a breach of faith and is seeking an unfair advantage were made yesterday before Judge C. Edwards at Waukegan.

JUDGE EDWARDS.

On an all day argument against the motions, Thomas Marshall, assistant attorney general, who on Saturday began the answer to Small's counsel, was followed by James H. Wilkerson, first assistant attorney general, and C. F. Mortimer, state's attorney of Sangamon county.

C. C. Le Forger, chief of counsel for the defense, will have the final word today. When he concludes it is believed Judge Edwards will make his ruling, call for pleas of the defendants, and set the date for trial.

Mortimer Implies Bad Faith.

The implied charge of bad faith was made by State's Attorney Mortimer, who began by reviewing briefly the steps which took the cases against Small and Curtis into Lake county.

The preceding speakers had made the point that if the defendants wanted separate trials that question should have been raised when the change of venue was taken from Sangamon county.

Mr. Mortimer said that throughout the negotiations, during which he consented to the change of venue, first for Small and later for Curtis, the subject of separate trials never was brought up.

"There never was any thought in my mind except that Small and Curtis would be tried together," he said, and indicated that he would not have considered the proposed change of venue if he had thought it might involve saddling double expense on the taxpayers of Sangamon county, who ultimately pay the immense costs of this prosecution. This was understood as meaning that this expense argument might have been a potent one had the cases remained in Sangamon county.

Charges Defense Seeks Advantage.

Mr. Wilkerson made the charge that the defense is seeking to obtain, not a "fair trial," but a trial in which it will have a decided advantage.

"They are asking the court to exercise its discretion arbitrarily in order to give the defense an advantage to which it is not entitled," Judge Edwards indicated his interest in this point and during the discussion Mr. Wilkerson pointed out clearly what he meant. If A and B, jointly indicted for conspiracy, are given separate trials, was his argument, B could testify in A's trial, where he would not be in jeopardy. He could help win A's case and the record of A's acquittal then could be introduced in B's trial. If they were the only defendants B also would be acquitted, as it takes two to form a conspiracy.

Mr. Wilkerson also implied that if separate trials are granted the state has a surprise move up its sleeve.

CITY FINALLY TRIES TO GET 'L' DEBT PAID

Ald. U. S. Schwartz succeeded yesterday in forcing the city law department to file a petition for $245,468.69 from the Chicago and Oak Park elevated. It is money due the city with interest from the company as its one-third part of the cost of the Lake street bridge. Samuel Insull is the receiver for the company.

Schwartz charged Jan. 3 that the city administration has been favoring the elevated roads over the surface lines. About a year ago the city council directed the administration to petition the Illinois commerce commission to restore the 5 cent fare on both the surface and elevated lines. Nothing was done until July—then a petition was filed against the surface lines alone. The council order with reference to the elevated was ignored, until the commission itself instituted proceedings last September.

Schwartz on Jan. 3 had an order passed by the council asking the city law department to explain. The reply did not answer the five questions specifically. It admitted that no petition for the money had been filed. But yesterday it was filed. It asserts that the company has not even paid the interest on its debt between 1914 and 1916, totaling $37,886.88.

The order temporarily prohibiting a 5 cent fare on the surface lines was formally entered yesterday by Federal Judges Carpenter, Page, and Evans. No indication has been given by the city administration when it will present evidence to dissolve this injunction.

H-M, THIS AU-TO- BE A GREAT AID IN SELLING CARS

'Tis Hard, Though, on the Booze Sleuths.

BY J. L. JENNINS.

District Attorney Charles F. Clyne and Prohibition Director Charles A. Gregory were among the thousands who broke attendance records yesterday at the Chicago automobile show. It remained for them to discover one feature in motordom that has been overlooked by the world of critics who for two days has stormed the Coliseum Annex, armory, and hotel displays.

CHARLES F. CLYNE.

"Very, very clever," remarked the district attorney, after escaping from the motor jam. "You can say for me that the 1922 closed car is certainly equipped to the nth power. Of course, you notice that this year the compartments are made large enough to carry an entire case if necessary—yes, certainly. I'd say that automobile men have seen the trend of the times!"

Infringing on Kentucky's Model. "And did you notice that condenser in the necessary exhibit?" put in the district director. "It's for the radiator, but I know where the designer got his idea—down in the Kentucky hills where our best stills come from."

"You don't for a minute think that those compartments built into most of the sedans and other closed jobs this year were designed to carry booze, do you?" Absurd. They're for rugs, wraps, and the thousand and one things that must be stowed away safely on a long trip."

Women made up more than 50 per cent of the show crowds yesterday, and it was remarked that their interest this year is centered in mechanical refinements rather than in style and finish. They found that the 1922 models have been built for their approval. Brakes and clutch pedals have been lengthened in many models, shift levers brought into handier positions, self-starters made easier of access and operation, and a hundred mechanical details arranged with the one view—added comfort and safe driving.

Motordom Stakes All.

The spirit of the new "normal" automobile world was sounded further yesterday when the annual convention of the National Automobile Dealers' association opened in the Hotel La Salle. Leadership in any line of business is never a matter of chance or luck," declared Harry Moock, general manager of the association, in the opening address. "The motor trade is offering sheer value as its part of national success in 1922. It is the one industry that has bet its entire bank account on success this year. Ability, willingness, and achievement stand behind automotive confidence today."

NOTES OF THE AUTO SHOW

Motor show visitors are "looking under the hood" this year as never before, according to exhibitors. John Tanish, sales manager for Mitchell, estimated last night that more than 300 people had personally examined the polished cutaway of the new 1922 motor which is a feature of the Mitchell display.

Something new in closed cars is presented by Nordyke and Marmon in the four door, four passenger sedan which made its first appearance at the New York show and has been made the center of the Marmon exhibit here.

Officials of the Chandler company announced that the buying spirit engendered by 1922 shows has resulted in the addition of 50 per cent in working forces in the Chandler factory.

Another high light of the show is the entirely new Velle model 58 which the Velle Motors corporation is introducing for the first time in Chicago. Automatic lubrication, overhead valve action, and dirtproof construction are features of the motor.

Clarence A. Earl, head of Earl Motors, Inc., has another celebration to attend after the close of the Chicago show. He received word yesterday that the town of Jackson, Mich., is preparing a reception for him on his return home.

Harry Branstetter, Capt. Rickenbacker, and Frank L. Klingensmith, comparing notes over their Klatsell, Rickenbacker, and Gray exhibits in the Congress last night, declared that attendance at the Congress salon compares favorably this year with that at the first Regiment armory.

This car is crowding the Congress Hotel!

Chicago's hat is off to the Rickenbacker—the already famous "hat in the ring" car.

We thought we had large crowds in New York! And we did. In fact we had the largest. But here the crowds are simply huge. All Chicago is crowding into the Congress Hotel to see this remarkable automobile.

After all it's what we expected. For in the Rickenbacker we are offering the first really high quality car at a very popular price.

In no other car have you ever driven a motor that's so smooth. Mind you this car has no period of vibration.

You might doubt that statement at first but it's a fact and here's why. The crankshaft of the Rickenbacker motor is provided with a double flywheel—one fore and one aft. The introduction of these two flywheels absolutely eliminates all vibration at all speeds. Thus you are given an entirely new riding sensation which you have never experienced before.

You have never driven a car that rides with such perfect ease and such perfect comfort.

In fact as you glide along in a Rickenbacker you have the feeling of being propelled by some immense but invisible force—so soft and so smooth is the positive but vibrationless motion.

Then we have a new type of spring construction. This also means greater comfort. Rickenbacker springs are so designed that you get 130" wheel-base riding comfort yet the wheelbase is but 117".

All jolting and jarring is eliminated due to our special construction and the large but light Rickenbacker frame. Rigidity is specially worked out yet the car is as flexible as it is fast.

Cord tires all around of course. Also you may have the distinctive Tuarc steel or wood artillery wheels. You have your choice at no extra cost.

Rickenbacker bodies are all superb, beautiful and very graceful designs. The models are long and set low. They are very large—providing ample room and all kinds of comfort.

In appearance you'll admit they're the smartest thing on wheels.

For real substantial motor car value the new Rickenbacker Six offers you the soundest investment on the market plus the last word in advanced motor car design.

Be sure and look these cars over. Come to the Congress and follow the crowds to the Elizabethan Room where you will find the Rickenbacker phaeton, coupe, and sedan. There's a chassis at the Show. Also cars can be seen at our Chicago Salesroom.

Here Is One Wiz of a Kid Picture

"PENROD"
Produced by First National.
Directed by Marshall Neilan.
Presented at the Chicago theater.
Featuring
Wesley Barry.

By Mae Timb.

This week's feature at the Chicago is a wis!

A freckled faced genius stars in it; Marshall Neilan, who knows how to direct, directed it, displaying great humor and taste, and Booth Tarkenton, who sure knows boys from the ground up, wrote the stories from which the screen version has been made. It's the sort of picture old and young will cry for—and chuckle at from beginning to end.

The tale deals with the adventures of one Penrod Schofield, aged about 12, and the youthful gang he heads called "The American Boys' Protective Association." The object of the organization is the protection of the young shoot from the parent trees and other annoying growths classed as "grownups."

The life of Penrod and incidentally everybody in any way connected with Penrod is just one blank thing after another. I mustn't tell you the incidents that compose the delightful whole, for I want you to have the fun I had witnessing the film. It ends up with a couple of bangs that leave young Mr. Schofield complete victor and hero where, throughout the picture, he has been by turns villain and victim.

If you like kids you'll like this picture. If you don't like 'em—you'll like it. If you have had dealings with them and understand them you'll rock back and forth in your seat in warm and hilarious appreciation of "Penrod."

The able supporting cast includes Tully Marshall as a long suffering father, Claire MacDonnell as a harassed mother, and Marjorie Daw as a small boy's sister who has a beau.

CLOSEUPS

Dorothy Dalton has bobbed her hair, according to latest reports. Keep your eye peeled—maybe we'll find out she hasn't.

And now it's Lila Lee who is said to be occupying the attentions of the comical Mr. Chaplin. First Mae Collins, then Claire Windsor, now Lila Lee. If you ask us we'll say that the old saw about safety in numbers fits in the case of the much discussed comedian.

Mack Bennett announces that "For Love or Money" is to be the title of his all-star feature once dubbed "When You Leave Home." The picture is, according to the press agent, "a happy satire on divorce and the troubles of high life." It's wonderful not to be a high life!

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

KATE: I AM CONTINUALLY BEING surprised with the number of requests for a cure for nail biting. It must be nervousness that makes grownups nervous in the disfiguring habit. Pride in nails should help. But if you need something better to put on, here it is: Alcohol, 1 1/2 ounces; choline, 1/4 ounce; gum mastic, 1/4 ounce; and gum myrrh, 1/4 ounce. Mix, let stand forty-eight hours, shaking bottle occasionally. Apply with camel's hair brush. The habit can be removed with alcohol or hot water.

ELIZABETH: FOR EXTREMELY oily hair try sprinkling common salt on the scalp; brush it out thoroughly. It seems to absorb the oil. A salt rub after the bath is good. It makes the skin clean and fresh smelling.

Easy to Darken Your Gray Hair

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though, no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel old time remedy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid liver.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not irritate, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar coated, olive colored tablets. They cause the bowels to live and act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown stool,"—had breath—a dull, tired feeling—stomach—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep trim. Try them, and see.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Carrot Rice.

Does your family hate carrots? If they do, try this or a number of other dishes for which the carrot is prepared in the same way, such as a vegetable soup, a way which shows up all its beautiful color and never yields a boiled carrot flavor.

Put three cups of water to boil. Scrape and put through the food chopper, medium disk, four good sized carrots, and add them to the water when it boils, with one green sweet pepper cut fine if you have it, but you can dispense with it, and one or two onions, also cut fine.

Before putting the water to boil it is best to wash a cup of rice thoroughly and put it to drain. When the vegetables have been added to the boiling water with one level teaspoon of salt, and the whole boiled, add the drained rice slowly, so that the water will not cease boiling, and when the rice is all in add two or three table-spoons of bacon fat, and cook the whole rather rapidly for five minutes, but not so that it will split.

After five minutes put on the cover and cook over a gentle fire for fifteen minutes. At end of that time take off cover and cook until the mass is rather well dried out—five or ten minutes—and serve for a one piece meal.

MEN'S FASHIONS

BY A. T. GALICO.

Macinaw's Much in Vogue.

NEW YORK.—[Special correspondence.]—If you know anything about the northern woods, you will know that in the winter it is one of the coldest spots outside of the two poles and the habit of the Eskimo and the polar bear. Hence those who live there have by force of circumstances discovered how to keep warm.

The macinaw, of French Canadian descent, is perhaps worn more than any other outer garment by the northern trapper or woodsman or Indian to protect himself against its intense cold. But this is not the only reason for the popular use of the macinaw. For, due to its highly colored patterns, its wearer attracts attention in the woods, and is thus protected from accidental shot.

Of course, in its adaptation to our more civilized town and country life the macinaw is to be valued more for its protection from winter winds than its random shots of rabbit hunters, but at any rate it is an extremely popular coat for winter sports, whether in the country or on the city skating rinks.

The macinaw in the illustration has a notched collar, but, as is suggested in the small sketch, shawl collars are also used. The coats may be belted or half belted, single or double breasted, the latter being more common, since it gives added warmth.

DAILY HOROSCOPE

Doris Blake Says:

If your birthday is today you are FASCINATING.

You have a tremendous amount of personal magnetism which draws people to you closely. You have a commanding eye, which almost hypnotizes opponents into arguing with you instead of against you. You have the power to soothe away physical troubles by this great magnetism of yours. But, alas, you are inclined to be a "flirt" and to use your "eye" on poor, unsuspecting hearts.

Closes Her Eyes.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am taking the liberty of asking you this question. I have thought it over time and time again, but have found no solution. Why does my sweetheart close her eyes when I kiss her? ANXIOUS." I dunno, Anxious. Just dunno! Maybe if I had a photograph of you I could answer your difficult question. If you're the handsome young fellow I suspect, I'd be asking why, too, I suppose.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

To Pass Lonely Hours.

"Is there a reader of this corner who has a knitting machine no longer in use? I would appreciate it so much. I am alone and not able to work. I have a book called 'Philo System of Progressive Knitting' I will be glad to give to any one who is interested in knitting. M. N. W."

"I'll be happy to send Mrs. W.'s name to any one who can fill her need."

Child Is Paralyzed.

"I herewith appeal to you for the address of Mrs. W. R., who offers steel toys. My poor child has been paralyzed for the last three years; cannot walk at all; spends all of his time in his high chair or on the floor. These toys would certainly be a godsend to him to help pass the long, weary hours." JACOB.

Perhaps you are the one who wished he or she had been a Good Fellow at Christmas time. This case, then, may be the opportunity you seek to make some child happy. The set referred to had already been given to another little invalid.

Miss Frances Jones of St. Louis Engaged to Kent S. Clow

An announcement of unusual interest to society is that of the engagement of Miss Frances Reid Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Breckinridge Jones of St. Louis, Mo., to Kent S. Clow of Chicago and Lake Forest. Miss Clow is one of the most popular young men in society. His first wife, who died several years ago, was Eleanor Hamill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Hamill of 3320 Sheridan road. Miss Jones and Mr. Clow will be married soon and will live at Breckinridge, Lake Forest.

The announcement of the marriage of Miss Mary Hope of New York and George Sturges Carpenter of Chicago Saturday came as a surprise to friends in Chicago. The wedding took place Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the chantry of St. Thomas' Episcopal church in New York, the Rev. Ernest M. Sturges officiating. Owing to serious illness in the bride's family, only relatives were present. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. James William Hope of New York, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard Carpenter of 677 North Michigan avenue and Lake Geneva. Francis Peabody Magoun Jr. of Boston served as best man for Mr. Carpenter, and Mrs. William C. Boyden Jr. of Hubbard Woods (Polly Carpenter), sister of the bride, was the bride's only attendant. After March 1 at 135 East Magnolia street, Stockton, Cal.

The marriage of Miss Mary Louise Rouse, daughter of Mrs. John Rouse of 225 Prairie avenue, to the Rev. Charles Larrabee Street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Street of 1429 Astor street, will take place this morning at 11:30 o'clock at Trinity church. Bishop Charles P. Anderson will read the service in the presence of the families and immediate friends. Miss Dorothy Rouse will be her sister's only attendant and Albert Hall will be best man. Edward P. Street, a brother of the bridegroom, and Douglas Street, a cousin, will usher.

Miss Elizabeth Thayer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Thayer of Hinsdale and Harold Larrabee Street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron A. Myers of Hinsdale, will be married on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the Unity church. Miss Katherine Thayer will be her sister's maid of honor and Mrs. Harry Holschwerdt will be matron of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Virginia Van Court, Miss Esther Keane, Miss Frances Far, and Miss Dorothy Fulton. Edwin Earl Myers will be the brother's best man.

The marriage of Miss Abbie Chesley Bourd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Bourd of 6840 Euclid avenue, to Thomas Baird Phillips will take place on Saturday evening at St. Paul's Episcopal church. A reception at the Simpson hotel will follow. Mrs. Susan Day Parker of Hamilton, Mass., is visiting her sister, Mrs. R. Hall McCormick of 660 Rush street. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Williams of New York also are visiting Mr. McCormick and her daughters, the Misses Elizabeth and Mildred McCormick. Miss Elizabeth McCormick returned about a week ago from Italy.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan G. Osborne, who went abroad on their honeymoon, are now in Rome, but expect to return here in early March. Mrs. Osborne formerly was Miss Catharine Barthold may.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell Blair have returned from their wedding journey and are at home in Lake Forest. Mr. and Mrs. Silas H. Strawn of 225 Lake Shore drive have returned from an eastern visit.

Mrs. Marvin B. Pool of 512 Barry avenue and Mrs. William E. Clarke of 1350 North State street will leave Thursday for Boston as delegates to the student councilors' meeting at Wellesley college.

Paul Wilder Jr., of 1315 Astor street, is leaving today for Memphis, Tenn., where they will visit Mrs. Wilder's family, later going to Oakland, Fla. Mr. Wilder will join them there for the month of March.

Mrs. Florence Henderson and her sister, Miss Lucia Boud Henderson of 1641 East 57th street, are sailing Feb. 4 for a four months' stay in Africa and Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vilas Platt have returned from their wedding journey and are at the Ambassador hotel. Mrs. Platt was formerly Miss Betty Quick.

Washington Cancels Its Social Plans in Mourning Disaster

Washington, D. C., Jan. 30.—[Special.]—Washington is a city of mourning and almost without exception invitations for festivities planned for tonight and the remainder of the week were cancelled today on account of the tragic disaster at the Knickerbocker theater on Saturday night.

The reception which the Ohio society was to have given tonight in honor of the President and Mrs. Harding has been postponed, and a new date will be selected later, subject to the wishes of President and Mrs. Harding.

The dinner which the attorney general and Mrs. Daugherty had arranged to give in honor of the President and Mrs. Harding on Wednesday evening has been postponed for the present, and the Congressional club has also postponed its reception in honor of the Vice President and Mrs. Coolidge which was to have been given tonight.

Owing to the disaster the minister from Norway and Mme. Bryn have postponed the dinner they were to have given this evening, and Mrs. Sinclair Bowen has withdrawn her invitations for the musical she had planned for Wednesday, Feb. 8.

JUST MARRIED

MRS. CLARENCE OLSEN.
(Photo by Moffat.)

Miss Natalie Hogarth Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hogarth Hill of Evanston, was married to Clarence Olsen on Jan. 18. Mr. and Mrs. Olsen will live in Elyria, O.

Scholarship Founded by Musical Society

The Lake View Musical society announces that it has established a permanent scholarship in the Civic orchestra. The instrument has not been designated. The society has held each year competitions in piano, violin and voice with two prizes in each. The competitions will continue.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

The Tribune will pay $1 for every letter published on "The Most Embarrassing Moment of My Life." Address "Embarrassing Moments," Chicago Tribune. Write on one side of the paper. No manuscript returned.

Splash! Splash!

While shopping one day I bought some goods which were put into a paper box which the clerk said would be safe for a short distance. I then entered a fashionable haberdashery to buy a tie. Just as I reached over the counter the box broke, and popped the goldfish, and the water ran over the counter. Splash! splash! went the fish. Whether to escape or stay, that was the question.

What a Relief.

I had been busily sewing all morning, so I instructed my small daughter to run out and play, and if she became hungry to come back into the house and I would give her some bread and jelly. Looking out of the window, I saw a neighbor coming across the street.

Offer Plan to Censor Stage of New York

New York, Jan. 30.—A new plan to eliminate or correct questionable plays was announced today. The idea, promulgated by men of prominence in the theatrical industry, is to select a jury of twelve reputable citizens to judge a play that is under criticism and decide by a three-fourths vote whether the play should be censored, condemned or revised.

Cordon Tea for Artists.

The Cordon will give a tea today from 3 until 6 o'clock at the Art Institute for the Chicago artists now exhibiting. Mrs. Edgar Lee Masters, acting president, will head the reception committee.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $1 for each child's saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to schedule or return unsuitable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address Bright Sayings to Cissy Lee, Tribune, Chicago.

A Friend of mine has a son, Vincent, named after his uncle. One day the uncle was visiting at their house and spent a large part of the afternoon playing with young Vincent.

When the father returned after work that evening he asked, "Who is this fellow?"

That's Uncle Vincent," replied the little fellow.

"Well, what kind of a guy is he, anyhow?" his father then asked. Vincent thrust his hands down into his pockets and replied, "O, he's a pretty good sort of fellow."

My grandson was visiting me and I entertained a woman's club during his stay. When he returned home he told his mother of the party, and about the good time he had, and said he was "the only man at the party."

Miss Goodwill Engaged.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Goodwill of 416 Barry avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Emily, to Gerald Vernon Cleary of 3724 Pine Grove avenue.

Film Stars at Opera Club.

The Misses Lillian and Dorothy Gish and David Wark Griffith will be guests of the Opera club tomorrow night at the regular Wednesday dinner dance.

Edward Roby, Attorney

Here 50 Years, Is Dead

Attorney Edward Roby, for half a century a practicing lawyer in Chicago, died suddenly at his home at 108th street and Avenue J, South Chicago, yesterday. Mr. Roby first gained national prominence in connection with the Snell road case, and later, in 1905, when he brought suit to enjoin the granting of traction franchises for street cars by Mayor Harrison's administration. He was born in Brookport, N. Y., in 1840. He is survived by a stepson, Charles F. Roby, 6107 Kimbark avenue.

MRS. PERSIS L. MOORE, for forty years a resident of Wilmette, died yesterday at St. Francis hospital, Evanston, after an illness of four weeks. She was well known for her work in the Congregational church. She is survived by her husband, Henry E. Moore of 627 11th street, Wilmette; a daughter, Mrs. Frank Watson, also of that suburb, and a son, Edward H. Moore of Rogers Park. She was 65 years old. The funeral will take place tomorrow at 2 o'clock from the First Congregational church of Wilmette. Interment will be at Rose Hill cemetery.

MRS. S. M. PERRY, widow of the late Capt. James Perry and sister of former Postmaster W. C. Carr of Englewood, died at the home of her brother, 441 West 60th street, Sunday, aged 90. The funeral services will take place Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 in the chapel at West 63d street and Chicago avenue.

MRS. BELLE BECKER, wife of Peter Becker of the furniture company, bearing his name, died yesterday at her home, 1139 North Sacramento avenue, aged 61 years. She is survived by her husband and three children.

IT'S HOROSCOPE DAY AT TRIBUNE; MANY COMPETE

Readers Send In a Deluge for "Lucky" Contest.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

A deluge of horoscopes poured into my office in THE TRIBUNE plant yesterday from the competitors in the lucky number contest. They came from Chicago and from nearby states, and I expect today will bring others from farther away. The day's mail demonstrated the intense interest in my assertion stating that names are lucky and unlucky—on certain days. My promise to determine whether your name is lucky or unlucky, and to award prizes to the owners of the luckiest names, has met with tremendous response.

Try your luck every day!

Every coupon sent in or brought in to THE TRIBUNE office receives the same attention.

Interest Is National.

The number of responses as a barometer of interest shown makes it apparent that interest is nationwide. It does not matter where you live. It does not matter what your name is or when your birthday is. All you have to do is to submit your name and birth date to me and let me, if you are lucky, award you a cash prize.

All you have to do is to fill out the horoscope blank on page 9 of this issue and send it in to me. I can tell as soon as I see the information requested on the coupon or a slip of paper of similar size. You do not need to buy THE TRIBUNE to be entitled to the prize the divination of your name may bring. You may use a separate sheet of paper of the same size and fill it in as directed.

Remember, you can enter your name or the name of your father or mother, or brother, or sister, or a child of any relative or friend on as many different days as you wish, and don't forget that luck is constantly changing.

Try Every Day.

If you do not win one day, you may try again. Don't give up. Fortune is as changeable as the wind. Keep trying and give her a chance.

Do you remember the story of Robert Bruce and the spider? Bruce was discouraged because his efforts had not been successful. He lay in despair, looking toward the ceiling. Suddenly a spider swung across his vision. The spider was trying to swing across a space and fasten its web to the other side.

It failed to get across. The spider crawled up and began swinging across. Again it failed. Patiently it crawled up and again made its swing, dangling at the end of the glistening end of its web.

This time the spider was successful. It got across, fastened its web, and spun the remainder back and forth over the space it had experienced so much difficulty in getting over.

This was a lesson that one failure should not discourage.

$40 Shoes Added to Charge Against Wife by Builder

Henry J. Knorr, a plumbing contractor, in his answer to his wife's, Mrs. Esther H. Knorr's cross bill, yesterday charged her with spending as much as $40 for a pair of shoes. In his original bill for divorce he charged she failed to prepare 143 breakfasts, eighty-four dinners, and alleged she had stayed away from home sixty-five nights since they were married.

Seeks Probate Papers for Estate of Suicide

The Probate court was asked yesterday to grant letters of administration to George C. Rogers, soldier husband of the former Kentworth society girl, Ursula Thompson Rogers, who ended her life in a supposed pact with Alfred A. Nichols of Kansas City, in a rooming house ten days ago.

Miss Reed and Her Royal Rendezvous

BY SHEPPARD BUTLER.

VANDERBILT is a curious industry. Here, at the Majestic, is Miss Florence Reed, an actress who can sweep you off your feet when she is so minded, submitting certain exercises in elocution for which about as much skill is required as for your younger daughter might display in her next attack of high school dramatics. At the end of the week, I suppose, this naive performance will be rewarded with enough money to buy the shiniest coat at the Collectors.

Through with "The Mirage" and presumably having nothing better to do, Miss Reed, a blonde with a one-act play, Edgar Selwyn called "A Royal Rendezvous." This amiable fragment reveals her as one of those period countesses, bewigged and very lovely in blue satin and old lace, and engaged in the pleasant occupation of making a rummy out of King Louis XIV. I am a bit mixed as to how it all comes about, but the proceedings involve a clandestine appointment for dinner, an intruding lover, much dodging behind curtains, and a duel with swords. Miss Reed's task is to flatter prettily, while the men do the acting.

I wish she would tell me, in confidence, just what she thinks of the play. Also at the Majestic are:

The Transfused Sisters.—In song, accompanying themselves on various instruments of torture. The one at the left has a personality, and is too good to be wasted on this kind of an act.

Freese and Hope Eden.—Telling you the number on your watch, and whether John will propose. Did you ever meet any one who knows how they do it?

Thomas F. Swift and Mary Kelley.—A pair of likable youngsters, in droll chatter interrupted by an occasional wisp of song. "A Dream" as Miss Kelley sings it, is a little gem of wistful feeling.

Ruth Budd.—An amazing young woman with a castron voice, a determined smile, and a disconcerting way of flinging herself about on the flying trapeze, from which she seems certain to drop on the heads of those in the front rows.

Bill Bailey and Lynn Cowan.—They sing, bounce, and perform loudly and with great success on the banjo, saxophone, and piano.

Val and Ernie Stanton.—In gabby nonsense, varied with intermittent outpourings on the mouth organ and ukulele. Perfectly silly, but inescapably comic.

Prospects of the near future in Chicago theaters now include the promised arrival of William Faversham and his revival of Edwin Milton Royle's "The Squaw Man." Faversham will leave New York at the end of this week and begin a tour which, in due course, will bring him to this hospitable haven.

"ON TO MEXICO," CRIES W. C. T. U. IN HOOTCH WAR

Chief Leaves Evanston for Front Thursday.

Things have been going from bad to worse in Mexico ever since the scalawag kid brother of the late King Quetzalcoatl slipped a snifter of pulque into His Royal Highness's morning java and knocked the good man for a row of P o p o c a t e p e d i s , causing him to see red.

All efforts to get the country back to normalcy have failed despite the fact that every honest patriot has done his best to organize a successful war. When even the daily revolutions flizzed and Villa went back to the cows and chickens everybody said Mex were through. They couldn't have an honest-to-goodness war if they wanted one and would have to be satisfied with peace.

"They're All Wrong."

Well, everybody's wrong. Ask Miss Anna Gordon, president of the national and the world W. C. T. U. The Mex are to have a war that is guaranteed to warm the cockles of anybody's heart save that of J. Barleycorn. The W. C. T. U. will wage it. The battle cry will be, "Make Mexico Dry."

In pursuance of which Miss Gordon will leave Evanston for Mexico Feb. 2 to survey the enemy's strength. She will tour the country with the president of the Mexican W. C. T. U.

"I want to study the situation as a preliminary measure," she said. "I understand the W. C. T. U. workers are very active down there, but Mexico is a large place and I want to do all I can to help the movement."

'Twill Be Big Task.

Mexico's area is 767,005 square miles, population 15,501,684. Students of sociology say the task of making it dry is a stupendous one, because of the low average of mentality and the universal tendency to drink.

You raise your own down there. The cactus, which even grows its own spike, produces a liquid TNT, which is said to be greatly relied by the natives. Most of the householders have a family cactus in the front yard.

In the way of light wines and beer, there is tequila, a mild moonshine, and cervesa, which sells for a cent a glass. The mestizos rear the babies on aguardiente (ardent water).

JUDGES SEEK NEW QUARTERS FOR CITY COURTS

Chief Justice Olson of the Municipal court, with Judges Bugee and Jacobs, requested the finance committee of the city council yesterday for a $100,000 appropriation for the construction of new quarters for the criminal branches of the court.

Chairman Richert of the committee advised the judges that city officials are now considering the construction of a twenty-story building at Plymouth court and West Harrison street to house local police offices and twenty-six Municipal courts.

Boy, 15, Is Killed by Automobile; Driver Held

Albert Kueks, 15 years old, 1733 String street, was fatally injured yesterday by an automobile at Halsted and 23d streets. Michael J. Barry, the driver, is being held by the police. Kueks died before he could be taken to a hospital.

Vincent Strazakowski, 35, 2224 Blue Island avenue, was fatally injured Sunday and Alexander Mucha, 27, 708 Summit avenue, Hammond, Ind., seriously injured yesterday when their automobile crashed into a tree at Douglas boulevard and West 16th street.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In THE TRIBUNE yesterday morning it was stated that Henry Clifton died while riding in a street car. The name should have been Henry Clifton Chadbourne. Mr. Chadbourne was a special officer employed by the Corn Products company, Argo, Ill., and resided at 816 East 62d street.

THE VENGEANCE OF HENRY JARROMAN

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS. Henry Jarroman, released from prison, to which he was sentenced twenty years before for the murder of Charles Eddie, learns that John Camden, his one time friend, who stole his wife, killed Eddie, and fastened the crime on him, is dead. He has nourished his hatred of Camden all the long years in prison, and now his embittered heart bids him make Camden's daughter a victim in place of her father.

Camden's daughter, who believes her name to be Nadia Quest, is employed as a typist by the Hon. Wilfred Stranack. He loves her and asks her to marry him. Lord Douceter, Stranack's father, is a complete evidence against her father.

INSTALLMENT XXV.

"Until my unfortunate existence proved a bar to your happiness," put in Jarroman. "Yes, I deduced some such position from what my daughter has told me—or rather from what she has not told me."

Stranack hesitated a moment. Then: "Am I at liberty to refer freely to—events of the past?" he asked.

Jarroman smiled. "I have no sensitiveness on the subject of my having been in prison," he replied.

"I gazed at much the moment I saw you," said Stranack, eagerly. "What beats me is why Nadia should make a fuss about it when you don't."

"On the contrary, I quite sympathize with her point of view," said Jarroman. "She thinks—and with good reason—that he marriage with the daughter of an ex-convict—as I am—would injure you socially and so block your career."

"But, my dear Mr. Jarroman, who is to guess your unhappy history unless we tell them? The whole thing happened twenty years ago. People have forgotten it. The only connecting link is your name, and there are three hundred and twenty 'Jarromans' in the London directory. It's absurd to suppose that if our engagement were published every one would conclude that Nadia must be the daughter of a man who, some one remembers, was convicted of manslaughter."

"It's a rather awkward thing to talk about," replied the young man, "but I've got the idea in my head that my people, or at least the gov'nor, knew you were Nadia's father before she knew it herself."

"What on earth do you mean?" demanded Jarroman, startled. "How could they have known it?"

"I don't say they could," replied Stranack. "But they behaved rather oddly. You see, it's like this. The gov'nor tumbled on the fact that Nadia and I cared for each other by accident, as it were—that is to put it baldly—after all, you're her father, and—"

His voice trailed off.

"I kissed her," gasped Stranack. "It's the only time in my life I have kissed her. And the gov'nor just happened to come in at that moment. Beately awkward for her, and I felt frightfully ashamed for letting her in for it. But the gov'nor carried it off all right. Then he caught sight of a ring she was wearing. What's that?"

CON CON MEETS TODAY; TAKES UP FIGHT ON CHICAGO

Hamill Explains Plan to Cut Representation.

The Illinois constitutional convention reconvenes at Springfield today. The big battle is upon the proposed "county representation" plan, which would restrict the representation of Cook county and other large counties in both houses of the legislature. At the request of THE TRIBUNE, Attorney Charles H. Hamill, one of the leaders in the fight against the plan, has written the following special article on the subject:

BY CHARLES H. HAMILL.
(Member Constitutional Convention.)

Over 100 years ago since Illinois became a state, its people have been entitled to be represented in the lawmaking body according to population. Now it is proposed by certain delegates in the constitutional convention to depart from this long established principle and to segregate the people of each county and in the lower house to apply a different ratio of representation to each of such groups.

The plan is called "county representation plan" and provides that each county have at least one representative, and for each 50,000 of population, or major fraction thereof, above the first 50,000, one more representative.

On the latest census, this would mean 123 members, with three members from St. Clair, two from each of nine counties, 1 from each of ninety-two counties and sixty-one from Cook. There are nine counties which have each less than 10,000 population.

Making Super Men.

Each of these would, of course, have one representative. Lake county with its more than 74,000 would likewise have one; St. Louis, one man in Hamilton county, with its 1,533, would have influence in determining the action of the lower house equal to that of ten men in Lake county, and it would require 6.2 men of Cook to equal this super man of Hamilton.

Representing 2,150,351 people would have a majority over representatives of 4,334,737 people. This, in effect, disfranchises more than one-third of the population.

It is not pretended that the inhabitants of the small counties have virtues above those of the dwellers in the larger counties (of course, excepting the wicked people of Cook), but the plan is justified by its advocates on the ground that the county is a natural, logical unit, both politically and socially, and, as such, should be represented notwithstanding the inequality so produced in representation measured by population. To this suggestion it should be enough to reply that, if the county is indeed a political and social unit, it has become such without representation, for no county as such has ever been represented, and therefore representation is not required either to create or to preserve such unity.

Nineteen Cook Senators.

Part of the plan is to increase the senate from its present number of 51 to 57 and to give the six additional senators to downstate, leaving to Cook county its present nineteen senators, so that Cook shall be permanently limited to one-third of the senate.

The main purpose of these devices is to put an enduring limitation on Cook county's representation in both houses of the general assembly so that never shall have a majority in either house. Thus Cook county, with its more than 47 per cent of the state's population, will have only one-third of the senate and 35 per cent of the house. The scheme is ingeniously contrived to secure in the long run only one-third of the delegates from the smaller counties, who naturally are attracted by the prospect of increasing the importance of their own communities. The fact that a large percentage of the delegates in the constitutional convention are apparently with the support of their constituencies willing to abandon a fundamental theory of government applied through all the state's history and in harmony with the democratic ideal universally challenges attention. Is it possible that we have erred in assuming that the majority should have the right to govern?

Only Possible Rule.

Rule by the majority appeals to one's sense of fairness, and our example in enforcing it has now been followed by most of the civilized world. But it is not only the fair rule; it is in the long run the only possible rule. Any institution which has not within its power to compel its own preservation is bound to perish.

A constitution which requires the majority to submit creates a state of unstable political equilibrium which under the laws of political mechanics cannot be at rest, but must fall.

Unless, therefore, there is such an excess of political strength and virtue among our downstate friends as to make them play the superior of the inhabitants of Cook county, their plan is pregnant with its own destruction.

Those who may believe that downstate men will give us better government than we can give ourselves are reminded of Campbell-Bannerman's epigram: "Good government is no substitute for self-government," and to those who look for safety rather than for political rights may be repeated Franklin's wisdom, "He who would sacrifice liberty for temporary safety deserves neither safety nor liberty."

Hart Coal.

In our reply to J. H. R. yesterday, we mentioned $225,000 of 8 per cent first mortgage bonds of the Hart Coal company as outstanding. It is explained that the present issue of $500,000 will include the first bonds and all funded indebtedness leaving this issue as the sole funded debt secured by first mortgage on all the property, which is appraised at over three times the value.

Intermountain Ry. Light and Power.

J. The statement that they were a first lien on an ice plant, etc., which was taken from one of the standard manuals, is incorrect. For the time being, planning some financing that will retire these and other bonds. The net earnings for 1921, just made available, show a decrease of 10 per cent. For the last six months on the whole system they were $67,010 and for the last six months, $119,785, a total of $177,545 for the year. Bonds for 1922 for the period amount to $29,681.

HOGS' AVERAGE UP TO $9.10 HIGH FOR FIVE MONTHS

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Prices for live stock in Chicago yesterday:

HOGS.
Butt of sales	$8.90 to 9.25
Heavy hogs	8.40 to 8.80
Medium hogs	8.40 to 8.80
Light hogs	8.40 to 8.80
Selected, 140 to 150 lbs.	9.00 to 9.10
Light, 140 to 150 lbs.	8.90 to 9.00
Heavy, 150 to 160 lbs.	8.80 to 8.90
Light, 150 to 160 lbs.	8.70 to 8.80
Butt, subject to dockage	8.75 to 8.80

Hogs sold actively and the market strengthened as the day advanced. With closing sales 10.25 above Saturday, the top at $9.10 gained 10c, while the general average moved up 20c to $9.00, the highest in over five months.

Eastern orders absorbed practically a third of the day's receipts of hogs, which were estimated at $5,000, including 2,700 consigned direct to the packers. The local demand was brisk, most of the big droves costing $1.50 to $1.60. Shippers bought largely at $9.00 to $9.10. Pigs went as high as $9.40, averaging 10c.

Cattle Up, Quality Fair.
General cattle trade ruled strong to 15c higher than late last week, with best steers offered at $9.90, averaging 1.60 lbs. Receipts at $9.90, were ordinary, but quality was selling at $9.25. Butcher stock strengthened some and calves were without change. Feeding steers ruled steady.

Receipts of sheep and lambs were about as expected, but a fourth of the 29,000 were killed direct to packers from outside markets. Trade fairly active, mostly at 10c to 15c decline in values. Best fat lambs reached $11.75, or within 10c of month's high point. Feeder lambs up to $11.50. Aged and reached $11.00 and $12.00 at $11.00 to $11.50.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 11,000 cattle, 42,000 hogs, and 15,000 sheep, against 15,179 cattle, 41,114 hogs, and 10,538 sheep the corresponding Tuesday a year ago.

Yesterday's Hog Purchases.
Hog purchases yesterday by Chicago packers and others follow:

SHIMMY AND JAZZ FOE MAKES BIG REALTY PROFIT

BY AL CHASE.

Some time ago J. Louis Guyon, president of the Shimmy and Jazz Foe, paid $75,000 for approximately 50,000 square feet on the west side of Independence boulevard, between 6th and 11th streets, as a site for a $1,000,000 dance hall. This is at the rate of $15 a square foot. Later he found he didn't need all this ground and yesterday he sold approximately 18,000 square feet of it, fronting on the boulevard, to the Standard Oil company for $262,100, or at the rate of $14.50 a square foot. In other words he sold a third of his property for within a few thousand dollars of what he paid for the entire piece.

The buyers are to erect what they claim will be one of the finest gas and oil stations in the country, with elaborate landscaping. The property originally bought by Mr. Guyon fronts 225 feet on the boulevard, 471 feet on 6th street and 146 feet on Harrison. The part just sold fronts 45 feet on both Harrison and 6th street and the other 232 on the boulevard. A private street, virtually an extension of Hamilton avenue, is to be laid out by the Standard Oil company, between its station and the site for the dance hall.

Mr. Guyon, who believes in syncope, but balks at jazz, says he will build a dance hall to accommodate 15,000. He now operates "Guyon's Paradise" at 132 North Crawford. Bosh and Winterson were brokers and Harry J. Guyon attorney in the deal.

LET DOWN YOUR SKIRT, LIEUTENANT. Commissioner William T. of the Salvation Army yesterday ordered the women members to wear skirts no higher than 7 inches from the floor. He is shown measuring the skirt of Lieut. Clara Edwards. It was 8 1/2 inches from the floor. That of Capt. Elsie Gauntlet (center) was just right, 7 inches, and that of Lieut. Crystal Ohlhausen was 7 1/4 inches, one-half inch too high.
